

ABSTRACT

The invention relates to novel magnetic resonance imaging contrast agents and methods of detecting physiological signals or substances.